
This free download is an iconic speech given by Marilyn Monroe to the United Nations in 1953. The speech was held on June 19th, in that year's annual meeting, after which it went viral. This speech has gone down in history as one of the most inspiring talks ever given by any actress. Millions around the world continue to watch and be inspired, even up to this day. This is the moment where she set out her ideals for how women should lead their lives; speaking about their self-worth, professional success and fulfilled lives. Her speech itself is very popular in that it speaks about the rights of women, and she makes clear that they are entirely equal to men. She follows this up with truly bold statements like "Name me an adult woman who has not fantasized in her life." It was the truth, Marilyn had experienced many instances in her own life in which she had heard women say things like this to her. She followed this up by saying She went on to talk about how important it is for all women to do well at their jobs, so that they can live the kind of fulfilling lives they deserve. Many of these ideas seemed completely counter-productive at the time, but they are now considered routine parts of life. She then talks about what she wants for her children; that they should be treated equally to their male siblings, and that they should learn how to be independent of women. She goes on to say This speech has gone down in history as one of the most inspiring talks ever given by any actress. Millions around the world continue to watch and be inspired, even up to this day. This speech is still widely discussed in the media, and it continues to connect with people of all ages all over the world. The speech has reached high levels of popularity on Youtube, reaching some 3 million views some years back, with countless people sharing it after using it for their own messages of inspiration. Marilyn Monroe had stated this speech before, however not nearly as well as it would become. The actual inspiration for this speech was an article written by her husband Arthur Miller, of which she read before delivering. She had stated the ideas of feminism years before, though she rarely spoke about them publicly. With the death of Marilyn Monroe, on August 5th, 1962, millions have continued to watch her speeches for inspiration on Youtube and other sites across the internet. This video has reached high levels of popularity with millions viewing it every year. It often causes debate on how she would have viewed these things in her life. Marilyn Monroe's death is described as one of the most shocking moments of that era; with the nation mourning the loss of this iconic figure. This speech, her last before her death, has since become one of the most valuable pieces of history in history. Millions continue to watch it on Youtube and be inspired by it. After reading about Marilyn Monroe's last words before her death; there inevitably came to be a news story about what she had said. It was this amazing scene where Marilyn (in reflection) stated...
